BYU is the recipient of a land gift with an estimated value of $5 million.

The land, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Meitus of Beverly Hills, Calif., is located near Santa Monica. The 1,386-acre estate extends from the inland side of the Pacific Coast Highway at a point about two miles west of Topanga Canyon to the crest of the Santa Monica Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Meitus decided to make the gift after visiting the campus where Mr. Meitus says, "the atmosphere was uplifting, inspiring and electrifying."

In addition to the land, the donors have also offered to give $10,000 toward construction of a chapel for the Pacific Palisades Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

In making the gift, Mr. Meitus said: "I am of the Jewish faith, but BYU has a worldwide program of exceptional academic merit, and my interests are with every faith and especially in helping young people."

In announcing the gift to the university, President Ernest

Church Racism Censured At Yearly Press Convention

By SCOTT DUNCAN
Associate Editor

A new move to censure BYU and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was headed off Saturday at the business session of the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association convention.

The convention, which began Thursday to Saturday, was confronted by a resolution that called for the Church to "actively practicing" discrimination.

The resolution, which was introduced by the University of Utah, stated that the Church was "substantiated and passed, not taking the stand out of the cemetery move."

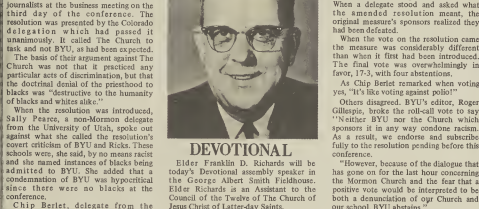

The accusers said The Church's discrimination was something they had to speak out against. They argued that the BKAFA had not really done anything effective for several years and that it was time it to come out against social injustices.

The real challenge came, however, not in the discussions but before the student journalists at the business meeting on the third day of the conference. The resolution was presented by the Colorado delegation which had passed it unanimously. The University of Utah did not, but BYU, at least had been expected.

The basis of their argument against The Church was that it practiced any particular act of discrimination, but that the doctrinal denial of the priesthood to blacks was "destructive to the humanity of blacks and white alike."

When the resolution was introduced, Sally Packer, a non-Mormon delegate from the University of Utah, spoke out against the resolution. She said that the "covert criticism of BYU and Risks. These resolutions are not only a reflection of the and the named interests of blacks being admitted to BYU, she added that a resolution that would state that since there were no blacks at the Council of the Twelve of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints."

Boyd K. Packer Chosen As Apostle

Elder Boyd K. Packer, an Assistant to the Twelve Apostles at the 16th Annual Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was chosen as an Apostle to the Twelve.

Elder Packer, 51, was called to serve as an Assistant to the Twelve in October, 1961. Prior to that time he was named a member of the administrative council of BYU and The Church Unified School System.

His professional career includes service as supervisor of Church seminars and institutes and extensive experience with Indian affairs from The Church at the International Indian School at Brigham City. He currently serves as a member of The Church Board of Education and of the Board of Trustees of BYU.

He is the managing director of the Priesthood Family Home Evening programs and also of the Church's Military Education Committee.

Beginning in 1965, he served for three years as president of the New England Mission.

Elder Packer studied at Weber College in Ogden and received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Utah State University. Since becoming a General Authority, his complete record includes his Ph.D. education administration which he received from BYU.

Elder Joseph Anderson, 50, has served as secretary to the First Presidency since February, 1952. When he was appointed as secretary, Heber J. Grant was president of The Church. Elder Anderson has served under each of the presidents of The Church since the late George Albert Smith, David O. McKay and now with President Spencer W. Kimball.

His responsibilities have been to attend and keep the minutes on meetings of the First Presidency and the weekly meetings of the Presidency and The Council of Twelve in the Salt Lake Temple.

He has also served as clerk of the General Conference of The Church, being responsible for the recording of conference speeches and proceedings.

Elder Anderson still records the proceedings by Pitman shorthand.

Elder David B. Haight, 62, is an assistant to President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

He has served as a regional representative for The Twelve since 1967. Elder Haight has been a member of The Church Priesthood Ministers' Committee and is former president of the Southern Mission.

He has served from 1963 to 1966. Prior to that time he served for 12 years as president of the Palo Alto State in California.

Elder William H. Russell has directed the extension services at USU since 1962. He has served as a regional representative to The Twelve since 1967.

He received B.S. and M.S. degrees from The State University and the Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. He has also received his doctorate in the field of Agriculture, assistant director of cooperative extension and associate professor of agronomy at USU.

His responsibilities have been to attend

At that point, a delegate from Mesa Community College (in Mesa, Ariz.) asked the Colorado delegation if they would favor an amendment condemning racism in any institution where it was found. "It would take the pressure off the Mormon Church," he said.

The amendment which would remove all reference to the Church read: "The Rocky Mountain Press Assn. condemns the deliberate racial discrimination that is practiced by any organization or institution and calls upon its members to inform and educate their citizens against racism."

A mild confusion over what delegates would really be voting for if they passed the amendment, it was passed overwhelmingly.

It was an amendment "in substitution," which meant that it replaced the original. Many delegates thought it would just be an addition to the previous resolution. When a delegate stood and asked what the amended resolution meant, the original measure's sponsors realized they had been defeated.

When the vote on the resolution came, the measure was considerably different than when it first had been introduced. The final vote was overwhelmingly in favor, 175, with four abstentions.

As Chip Berlet remarked when voting yes, "It's like voting against Roger."

Others disagreed. BYU's editor, Roger Gillespie, broke the roll-call vote to say "no" either BYU nor the Church sponsors it in any way condone racism. The result was understood to be a full vote on the resolution pending before this conference.

"However, because of the dialogue that has gone on for the last hour concerning the Mormon Church and the fear that a positive vote would be interpreted to be an endorsement of the Church and our school, BYU abstains."

display of impertinent conduct and rather be on the side of the end and order and respect of action," President Smith continued.

He expressed confidence in youth and advised them "not to follow the fashions and content of the world, not to parake of the spirit of rebellion and not to forsake the paths of truth and virtue."

President Smith stressed that "everything we do in the Church centers around the divine law that we are to love and worship God and love and serve our fellow men."

In speaking at the Saturday morning session, Elder Richard L. Evans of The Twelve said: "Some give themselves to tearing down, to destruction—but most tragically to the destruction of themselves, their minds, their peace, their happiness, their future possibilities."

At the same session, Elder Marvin Ashton, Assistant to The Council of the Twelve, spoke: "For some of our troubled youth in today's troubled society." He told parents, "Don't give up on us, don't give up on your children. We are in a position to conform through prayer, repentance, embarrassment, or ridicule."

Priesthood Session

We are promoting the work of the Deity when we spread rumors and false prophecies," President Harold L. Leavelle told the Priesthood session of the conference.

"It never comes to amaze me how public some of our Church members are in broadcasting sensational stories of crime or violence and purported patriarchal blessing—without first verifying the report with proper Church authorities," he said.

Later in his address, he said, "I would like you to seek to draw attention and gain a following to serve their own notions and sometimes sinister motives."

Priest Smith told the session, "You cannot receive the fullness of the reward unless you receive the ordinances of the House of the Lord... And there is no realization in the Kingdom of God without the fullness of the Priesthood."

President N. Eldon Tanner, second counselor to President Smith said "and the world has the right to expect its leaders direction and progress in life."

President Tanner also said that the Sunday morning session at this session he said lawlessness, acting and rebellion he be eliminated by living and teaching the law.

"Loving our Freedom"

He urged obedience to both the laws of God and the laws of men. He stressed that we disregard, disobey and despise the laws of God and the Word of God, depriving others of rights and leading to the destruction of the world.

Priest Smith stressed living the law of God and the Word of God and the Word of Wisdom—including avoiding the use of drugs.

"To fail to ourselves, to our youth, to the future of our country, to stretch to the limit to obey the laws of God and these few desiring things that are possible to enjoy in this life."

At the same session, Elder Delbert Spauld of The Council of the Twelve said: "The world needs away from gospel teachings. "Too many young people are being taught concepts in school and elsewhere that do not harmonize with the teachings of the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

They are encouraged to "find themselves" or "try this and that." This deviating approach permits licentious and uncontrolled appetites," he warned.

Elder Hugh B. Brown, also of The Council of the Twelve, urged members of The Church to "reject every inclination to disregard or distort the law of God and the Word of God and the Word of Wisdom—extremes of fanaticism and above all else, fanaticism."

"Let us continue to search for truth in all things, to be diligent and endeavor to live the law of God and the Word of God and the Word of Wisdom and the Word of the Father. The battle fields are farled in the forenoon of man, the forenoon of the world, until the Prince of Peace shall come and man shall reign upon the earth of King and there will be universal peace for 1000 years."

Elder Mark E. Peterson of The Council of Twelve told the fifth session that the President of The Church is more than a president.

"To be is also a chosen prophet of God in the same sense as the prophets of old were called," he said. The Lord raised Joseph Smith as a prophet because the time of new revelation was near and there was no prophet on earth to receive it," he said.

Big Game Tomorrow

By BOB OAKLEY
Asst. Sports Editor

Tomorrow afternoon the BYU baseball team will have its hands full as they take on the Salt Lake City Padres at 2:30 p.m.

The SLC Padres are the Triple-A farm club for the San Diego Padres of the National League. The Salt Lake club will play their home opener in Darks Field on Friday night, and the BYU game will be a warmup for the pro club.

A good bet for the starting spot on the mound for the Padres might be ex-BYU left-hander Rich Zimmerman. Zimmerman was last year's star for the Cougars as he won 17 games and led them to the Western Athletic North Division flag. He then took on the Arizona State crew of Bobby Winkles in the WAC finals, threw nine innings and gave up only one run, but that one run was more than ASU's Larry Gura gave the Cougars.

Last summer Zimmerman was drafted by the Padres and included in the Salt Lake Bees' Rookie League where he picked up several other wins, including a no-hitter.

He was invited to spring camp this year with the parent club, but was turned out for more experience to their top farm club, Salt Lake. Zimmerman has also been tapped by SLC pilot Don Zimmar to fill in the second season game for the Padres on Saturday night against Spokane at Darks Field.

Paul Kunkles (who says he can't throw a knuckle ball) is Coach Zimmerman's number one starter and may see some action on Wednesday.

Are you tired of studying? Looking for something different to do?

BYU's intramural program may be the answer to your dilemma. With only the spring sports left on the agenda for this season, there are still eight events and many more to add to this year's calendar.

Organization

Because of the vastness of the individual found over 50,000 people, it is broken down into four divisions with a graduate teaching assistant handling much of the administrative work.

Team sports, one of the most popular parts of the program, are under the guidance of Don Zimmar, a Spanish major from Utah who over 60,000.

Coordinator of the individual sports is Rick Kunkles, who Zimmerman. He is a graduate recreation major from El Segundo, Calif. Prior to coming to BYU this year Zimmerman was a high school football and track coach at El Segundo.

Heading the coed program is Washington Pam Rogers. She is a recreation education major from Olympia. Her duties include work with tennis, dance, volleyball and several other sports into which members of both sexes may enter.

The program is capably administered by Gary Palmer, intramural director. He is a lifetime staff member of the College of Physical Education. He is assisted by Howard Gray, a physical education major who now calls Provo home.

Highlights of the Year

The highlight of the year was covered in two of the local newspapers, an interview and a national magazine. The department has tentatively scheduled an activity for a 1971 season of ABC's World of Sports and, with the addition of a 1971-72 season to the list of activities, is thinking seriously of challenging the Ivy League (today's champion for the World Crown).
